In the press conference yesterday, the President of the Province Maurizio Fugatti also addressed the reopening. "We are getting so many requests - he said - and we are evaluating them, but we must take into account the decisions taken by the Government. We have autonomously decided, among the first in Italy, to reopen the outdoor construction sites, taking full responsibility for it. As you know - added Fugatti - we are working with a team of experts who constantly cooperates with all economic categories and trade unions to implement new legislative initiative. To support Trentino economy, the team also coordinates with the minorities in the Provincial Council, which requires a strong bureaucratic simplification. We are reflecting on people mobility, but it is necessary to deal with the scientific evaluations that are provided at national level. "

Today a new ordinance comes into force, which allows the reopening of children's clothing stores and stationery stores (not bookstores). The ordinance also establishes the obligation to use the mask in all commercial establishments.
